-----------------------------------	--

I worked as a Rig Electrician with ADC, where I was responsible for ensuring the safe, smooth, and uninterrupted operation of all electrical systems on the rig. My duties included maintaining and repairing generators, motors, control panels, switchboards, and all essential wiring systems used to support drilling operations. I performed routine preventive maintenance to reduce the risk of breakdowns, carried out detailed troubleshooting during faults, and responded quickly to any emergencies to restore power and maintain operational continuity. In addition to hands-on technical work, I closely monitored equipment performance, inspected electrical installations for potential hazards, and ensured full compliance with safety and industry standards. Working in challenging offshore conditions helped me develop a strong safety mindset, as I regularly collaborated with engineers, technicians, and crew members to coordinate safe work procedures and support rig activities without disruptions. My role also required maintaining clear documentation, reporting equipment status, and following strict HSE and company guidelines. Through this experience, I strengthened my technical abilities, problem-solving skills, and adaptability while gaining a deep understanding of offshore rig operations. Overall, my time with ADC allowed me to grow as a confident and responsible professional capable of handling high-pressure situations, ensuring safe electrical operations, and contributing to the overall efficiency and safety of the rig.
