Roles and Responsibilities	Additional Skills/Certification
-----------------------------------	--

In my role as a full-stack developer, I designed and developed a complete end-to-end management system entirely from scratch using PHP, JavaScript, and MySQL. This involved creating robust backend logic, secure database structures, and a user-friendly interface that significantly improved workflow efficiency and data accuracy across departments. I integrated multiple REST APIs to fetch, update, and synchronize data between platforms, ensuring seamless real-time communication and eliminating inconsistencies between the internal system and external services. A major part of my responsibility included building dynamic dashboards equipped with advanced search functionalities, status-based filters, and AJAX-powered tables. These features reduced page reload times and greatly enhanced the overall user experience for the admin, logistics, and accounts teams. I also automated several repetitive tasks, such as order tracking updates, email notifications, and status transitions, which collectively reduced manual workload and minimized operational errors. Additionally, I am developing a dedicated admin system that allows the management team to control website activities more efficiently. This includes the ability to publish notices, manage user inputs, and collect important information from website visitors. I also implemented an automated mailing system that responds to user interactions, triggers alerts, and ensures timely communication without manual intervention. Overall, my responsibilities centered on building a scalable, automation-driven system that integrates smoothly with existing business workflows while delivering faster performance, better accuracy, and an improved user experience.

Skilled in poster making, digital flyer design, and creating clean visual content. Strong business communication abilities with experience in client acquisition, presenting solutions, and building long-term professional relationships.
