I focus on maintaining a strong safety culture on the rig by strictly following company standards, ensuring proper maintenance of all rig equipment, and taking proactive measures to protect company property. Good housekeeping is a key part of my work approach as it helps prevent accidents, increases efficiency, and reflects discipline in day-to-day operations. I believe that a safe and well-managed workplace directly supports productivity and company growth. Training and developing crew members is also one of my core responsibilities. I actively guide and share my knowledge with the team to improve their technical skills, safety awareness, and work quality. I support teamwork and encourage open communication so every crew member understands their role clearly and performs tasks responsibly. By building a skilled, cooperative, and safe crew, we can complete jobs efficiently and maintain high standards of operational performance. Working under pressure is part of the rig environment, and I handle such situations with professionalism, especially when clients are present. I make sure to represent the company in a positive way by maintaining confidence, discipline, and transparency in every task. My overall goal is to contribute to the company's reputation, safety, and long-term success through teamwork, continuous improvement, and responsible work practices.

I have stuck pipe prevention and hpht well courses
