With over a 9 years of dedicated experience in the onshore oil and gas sector, I currently serve as a Control Room Operator (CRO) specializing in Process Gas operations. My core responsibility is managing the intricate balance of plant stability and production efficiency. I act as the central nervous system of the facility, continuously monitoring real-time data to ensure smooth, uninterrupted operations while strictly adhering to established Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs). Safety and compliance are the cornerstones of my professional conduct. I manage critical safety systems, including the administration of Permit to Work (PTW) protocols and the rigorous execution of Energy Isolation (Lock Out, Tag Out) to protect personnel and assets. My role requires seamless communication; I serve as the primary liaison, coordinating high-stakes maneuvers between Field Technicians and Site Supervisors to ensure operational alignment. Beyond the console, I am a committed member of the Emergency Response Team (ERT), prepared to lead during critical incidents. I also oversee the logistics of downstream delivery, ensuring product reaches customers safely and on schedule, while maintaining meticulous operational reports and inventory documentation. My career is defined by a culture of safety, recently culminating in the significant milestone of achieving 12 years without a Lost Time Incident (LTI) as of March 1, 2026.
